

I guess you could consider this the first official post here at the 2 Guys 1 Mic Webshow. This site is being put together to give a rough and sometimes inappropriate look into the video game industry. We love to point out the publicly incorrectness of everything. We don't aim to offend but sometimes you just have to let the pieces fall as they may. I have always been a fan of gaming starting out with SEGA Genesis, then N64, PS2, Xbox, and Xbox 360 Wii And PS3. I own all 3 but only play my 360 on a daily basis. I helped run a Xbox 360 podcast call Squad XP, a great place to be. I love everyone I worked with, between Rodder and his door floating goodness, to K-Rock never touching his 'box. As much as I love talking about myself I have to throw mad props out to Foo Mo Jive and Spelchek of Podtacular for getting me into podcasting you guys are true inspiration to me and I love what you have done with your lives and shows.

This blog is the example of the blood, sweat, and tears that we have put into everything we do. No matter what we do we never regret and just try to have fun. We are here to do this for ourselves and no one else, but its nice to have you guys here!
